WE EAT TOO MUCH.

Twelve Ounces of Food Is a Meal for a Brain Worker.

The present mode of eating now practised by the unscientific public at divers table d'hotes, beaneries and boarding-house boards three times a day, 365 days in the year is evidently all wrong. The unscientific public cats too much. In an article in the Food Reform Magezine, Dr. Nichols declares that the average quantity of water-free aliment required, say by business and literary men, is 12 ounces, and that men of great muscular activity are well fed on 16 to 20 ounces. Dr. Nichols' advice is Announcement was made Thursday 16 to 20 ounces. Dr. Nichols' advice is morning that the committee of the ofenables a man to do his daily work without loss of weight, by experiment, and then habitually keep to it.

In the midst of the dietary counsels of the vegetarians on the one side and the raw-beef and hot-water theorists on the other, it is interesting to contemplate the possibilities of the eating of the future. It is probable that eating in the 20th century will be reduced to the minimum, and a century or so cyldence of the etherealization of the latter-day eating. Up to date no table d'hote has advertised its dinner by the metric sytem, and no restaurant has served meals by the solid ounce. But Americans are a nation of dyspepties, and the end is not yet.

HOME LIFE AMONG RED MEN. Plains Indians Have Little Idea of the

Refinements of Civilization. It was storming hard and getting colder, and I was ahead setting the pace, when, about three o'cleck that afternoon, I came upon a log hut, and two trails that bore away in different directions, writes C. W. Wlitney, in Harper's Magazine. 1 wish I could have photographed the scene which slowly materialized from out of the darkness as I stood on the earthen floor within the cabin while my eyes grew accustomed to the charged conditions On entering I could distinguish only the fire in one end, before which squatted a couple of Indians and a squaw, but gradually the shadows lifted, and I found myself for a few moments busily engaged in shaking hands with Indians as fast as the new light revealed them. It was a very small cabin, barely ten feet square, I should say, with a parchment-covered hole in the wall for window, and a door which demanded a bowed head of every visitor. I do not know how many Indians were in that hut, but I recalled wondering how they arranged for sleeping, as there seemed hardly space for them to sit, much less be down. They were about to cat, and several rabbits, suspended full length from a deer throng and minus only their skins, were twirling and roasting before the fire, while others were being prepared for the cooking. I was not partial to rabbit, nor especially happy in the cabin's atmosphere, so, Prices the Lowest. We always when I had warmed a bit I went outside to wait for the dog brigade to come up.

PEACE AT ANY PRICE.

Burglar-Your money or your life. Sleepy Father-Take both, but don't wake the baby.—Detroit Free Press.

Old People. Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bit-ters. This medicine does not stigulate to the minimum, and a century or so thereafter be abolished altogether, if the present trend of scientific dietetic discovery continues. The good old feasts of Thanksgiving and Christmas are decried as barbarous indulgence of the animal appetite, and it is only necessary to attend a high tea of a social new woman or a debutante luncheon of a cooking-school graduate to find cyldence of the etherealization of the
